Your skills and talents in dentistry are undeniable, which is exactly how you ended up here ...

In a space where you're stretched between success and sacred family time.

In a space where late nights and early mornings at the office have you missing precious once-in-a-lifetime moments with your loved ones.

And in a space where you're having to choose between a thriving dental practice and enjoying the fruits of your labor.

You see, over my 15 years practicing as a Doctor of Dental Surgery, I've experienced a long list of tribulations and triumphs. So yes, I know all about the whirlwind of emotions you're experiencing because I've been where you are.

But now that I've learned how to love my career without giving up my entire life to succeed in it, I want you to know this:

You can win as a woman in dentistry without losing in your personal life.

So whether you're a woman running your own dental practice or you want to book me to speak to women in your organization who are on the brink of burnout, I'm here to pour my wisdom and "been-there-done-that" experiences into women in the dental community all while spreading the word that we can build thriving dentistry businesses without sacrificing our quality of life. And I'm a living testament in how that works.

Contact me today for more details about my practice or to book me for your next event.
